Clarifying Current Concepts on Cutting Crowns, Ceramic Choices, & Cements

COURSE DESCRIPTION

There are many choices that dentists have when restoring teeth; none, more challenging than choosing and then creating natural appearing long lasting crowns. There are many choices of materials and often mixed combinations of substrates that add to the complexity of these restorative cases. This course will discuss and clarify all the ceramic restorative materials currently in use for fixed restorative dentistry, considerations for when to use which material, strength vs esthetic balance, and protocols for cementation or bonding for each type of ceramic application to various tooth substrates. You should walk away with a when to use what, how, and why understanding after this presentation.

Nicholas P Raptou, DDS

Dr. Raptou has been in private practice in Worthington, Ohio, for 35 years, focusing mainly on complex restorative, implant, and cosmetic dentistry. He is a graduate of the Ohio State University, with a BS in Microbiology in 1978 and a DDS in 1981. He taught at the OSU College of Dentistry in Restorative Dentistry as a clinical instructor. He enjoys teaching effective techniques to enhance clinical success.
